

aspa

AUSTRALIAN SOCIAL POLICY
ASSOCIATION

AUSTRALIAN JOURNAL OF SOCIAL ISSUES

AJSI

AUSTRALIAN JOURNAL OF SOCIAL ISSUES

VOLUME 49 NUMBER 4 – 2014

VOLUME 49 NUMBER 4 – 2014

The AUSTRALIAN JOURNAL OF SOCIAL ISSUES is published by the Australian Social Policy Association to provide an inter-disciplinary forum for debate on significant social policy issues. It deals with questions of social justice and social policy. Articles discuss particular social issues, review conceptual problems, present empirical studies and debate policy alternatives. The journal is editorially independent of the Association and the universities to which editors and contributors are affiliated.

A price worth paying? Accountability, red tape and the regulation of affordable housing

Travers

Evidence for the use of an algorithm in resolving inconsistent and missing Indigenous status in administrative data collections

Christensen,
Davis, Draper,
Mitrou, McKeown,
Lawrence, McAullay,
Pearson, Rikkers,
and Zubrick

Towards better preparation and support for health and social care practitioners conducting specialised assessments in remote Indigenous contexts

Lindeman, Dingwall
and Bell

Grandparents raising grandchildren: impacts of lifecourse stage on the experiences and costs of care

Purcal, Brennan,
Cass and Jenkins

Help or hindrance? Social policy and the 'social determinants of health'

Carey and Crammond

The restructuring of WA human services and its implications for the not-for-profit sector

Fitzgerald, Rainnie,
Goods and Morris

Care without coercion – mental health rights, personal recovery and trauma-informed care

Watson, Thorburn,
Everett and Fisher

AJSI

A price worth paying? Accountability, red tape and the regulation of affordable housing	Max Travers	403-422
Evidence for the use of an algorithm in resolving inconsistent and missing Indigenous status in administrative data collections	Daniel Christensen, Geoff Davis, Glenn Draper, Francis Mitrou, Sybille McKeown, David Lawrence, Daniel McAullay, Glenn Pearson, Wavne Rikkers, and Stephen Zubrick	423-443
Towards better preparation and support for health and social care practitioners conducting specialised assessments in remote Indigenous contexts	Melissa Lindeman, Kylie Dingwall and Di Bell	445-465
Grandparents raising grandchildren: impacts of lifecourse stage on the experiences and costs of care	Christiane Purcal, Deborah Brennan, Bettina Cass and Bridget Jenkins	467-488
Help or hindrance? Social policy and the 'social determinants of health'	Gemma Carey and Brad Crammond	489-507
The restructuring of WA human services and its implications for the not-for-profit sector	Scott Fitzgerald, Al Rainnie, Caleb Goods and Lucy Morris	509-528
Care without coercion – mental health rights, personal recovery and trauma-informed care	Sandy Watson, Kath Thorburn, Michelle Everett and Karen Raewyn Fisher	529-549
Information about authors		551-553
Notes for contributors		555-558

Information about authors

Di Bell is a Research Associate, Centre for Remote Health, Flinders University in Alice Springs. She has an honours degree in science and is a practising Registered Nurse.

Deborah Brennan is a Professor in the Social Policy Research Centre at UNSW Australia and adjunct Professor in the Centre for Children and Young People, Southern Cross University. An expert in comparative welfare, family policy and gender and politics, she is the author of The Politics of Australian Child Care (Cambridge University Press, 1998) and of numerous scholarly articles on gender, politics and family policy.

Gemma Carey is a public health and social policy researcher. She is currently a Research Fellow with the National Centre for Epidemiology and Population Health, Research School of Population Health, the Australian National University. Her research has examined the impact of social and welfare state policies on health inequalities and political agenda setting for the social determinants of health.

Bettina Cass is Emeritus Professor at the Social Policy Research Centre, UNSW Australia. She was until recently Professor (part-time) at the Centre for Children and Young People, Southern Cross University. Her comparative research covers policies for family carers, formal and informal disability and elder care, child care and grandparent care. She focuses on gendered analyses of the intersections of families, communities, markets, and state policies. She is a Fellow of the Academy of Social Sciences in Australia.

Daniel Christensen is Senior Analyst at the Telethon Kids Institute.

Brad Crammond is a lecturer and PhD student with Monash University, Centre for Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine. Brad completed his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws (both with honours) at Monash University in 2003. He completed his Master of Laws (International and Comparative Law) in 2008, focusing on the intersection between public health and human rights.

Geoff Davis is the Senior Data Linkage Consultant at the Department of Health Western Australia.

Kylie Dingwall is a Post Doctoral Research Fellow at Menzies School of Health Research in Alice Springs. She has a PhD and an honours degree in psychology, and has a history in community services and Indigenous mental health research.

Glenn Draper is Research Analyst at the Department of Health Western Australia.

Michelle Everett is a Clinical Psychologist involved in writing and teaching regarding trauma-informed care for the New South Wales Institute of Psychiatry, the Mental Health Co-ordinating Council, Adults Surviving Child Abuse, and Inside Out & Associates Australia.

Karen Raewyn Fisher is Associate Professor, Disability Research Program, Social Policy Research Centre, University of New South Wales. Her research covers disability and mental health policy and inclusive methods in Australia and China.

Scott Fitzgerald is a Senior Lecture in the Curtin Graduate School of Business (CGSB) at Curtin University. His research interests include managerialism, austerity, and public sector restructuring, specifically in relation to human services and education, and the reorganisation of cultural workers' labour processes within global production networks.

Caleb Goods is a Research Associate in Management and Organisations at the University of Western Australia. His primary research interests include public sector restructuring in human services and education, and work and workplace responses to environmental crises.

Bridget Jenkins is a Research Associate at the Centre for Social Impact, UNSW. She conducts research into grandparent care and young people's educational, employment and community engagement.

David Lawrence is Senior Statistician at the Telethon Kids Institute and Research Professor at The University of Western Australia, seconded to Telethon Kids Institute.

Melissa Lindeman is Associate Professor in the Centre of Research Excellence in Rural and Remote Primary Health Care, at the Centre for Remote Health, Flinders University in Alice Springs. She has a background in social welfare, policy, research and education, particularly in aged and community care. She is inaugural President of the Australian Association of Gerontology NT Division.

Daniel McAullay is a Principal Research Fellow with the Kurongkurl Katitjin Centre for Indigenous Australian Education and Research at Edith Cowan University, and a Visiting Fellow at the Australian Primary Health Care Research Institute at the Australian National University.

Sybille McKeown is the Director of Transport, Tourism and Prices, and the former director of the National Centre for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Statistics at the Australian Bureau of Statistics.

Francis Mitrou is Associate Program Manager and People Leader at the Telethon Kids Institute.

Lucy Morris is CEO of Baptistcare WA and also works as an Adjunct Professor at the University of Notre Dame Australia (UNDA), School of Business, Fremantle. Her research interest is primarily in the area of leadership and belief systems within NGOs.

Glenn Pearson is the Manager of Aboriginal Research Development, which includes managing the Kulunga Research Network at the Telethon Kids Institute. Glenn is a Chief Investigator in the Institute's Centre of Research Excellence in Aboriginal Health and Wellbeing and is completing a Doctorate at the University of Western Australia (UWA). He is also a member of the Health Consumer Council of WA, Curtin University's Human Research Ethics Committee, and the Institute's Community and Consumer Participation Advisory Council.

Christiane Purcal is a Research Associate at the Social Policy Research Centre, UNSW Australia. Her research focuses on the evaluation of social policy programs in disability policy, child care, informal carer policies, and child and family services.

Al Rainnie is a Professor of employment relations and has worked at Curtin University, Monash University, and the University of Leicester. His research interests include industrial relations, regional development, global production networks theory, creative workers and cultural industries, state restructuring, and not for profit organisations.

Wayne Rikkers is Senior Analyst and Development Manager at the Telethon Kids Institute.

Kath Thorburn is a mental health worker and mental health education consultant for Inside Out & Associates Australia, with experience in a range of roles and settings and a commitment to promoting recovery oriented approaches to mental distress.

Max Travers is a Senior Lecturer, School of Social Sciences at the University of Tasmania. He is a qualitative researcher who has contributed to the fields of social policy and criminology. Empirical studies include The Sentencing of Children (2012) and The New Bureaucracy (2007). He is currently working on a study about bail decision-making, and a comparative project about regulation and red tape.

Sandy Watson is a Consumer Academic and Consultant for Inside Out & Associates Australia who delivers recovery and consumer perspectives about education and training for the NSW Institute of Psychiatry, Inside Out & Associates Australia, and for other organisations in Australia.

Stephen Zubrick is a Winthrop Professor in the Centre for Child Health Research at The University of Western Australia and is a Senior Principal Research Fellow at The Telethon Kids Institute. He is also Deputy Director ARC Centre of Excellence for Children and Families over the Life Course, Chairman of the Consortium Advisory Group for the National Longitudinal Study of Australian Children, and a Member of the Steering Committee for the Longitudinal Study of Indigenous Children.

Editors

Boyd Hunter
Australian National University (ANU)

Julie Lahn
ANU

Associate Editors

Myra Hamilton
University of New South Wales
(UNSW)

Cameron Parsell
University of Queensland

Kelly Richards
Queensland University of Technology

Peter Smith
Monash University

Production Officer

Tracy Deasey
Australian Social Policy Association

Editorial Board

Janeen Baxter
University of Queensland

Bruce Bradbury
Social Policy Research Centre, UNSW

Bettina Cass
Social Policy Research Centre, UNSW

Alison McClelland
Productivity Commission

Bill Martin
University of Queensland

Jan Pakulski
University of
Crawford School, ANU

AJSI is a fully peer reviewed journal, indexed in the Social Sciences Citation Index (SSCI), ISI Thomson Scientific Index and by the Australian Public Affairs Information Service (APAIS).

All editorial matters should be directed to: ajsi@aspa.org.au

Publisher

The Australian Journal of Social Issues is published by the Australian Social Policy Association (ASPA). Subscriptions enquiries should be directed to publications@aspa.org.au.

Volumes 1-45 of the Journal were published by the Australian Council of Social Service (ACOSS). Volume 46 and volume 47, numbers 1 and 2, were published by ACOSS in collaboration with ASPA.

Copyright

This publication is copyright. Apart from fair dealing for the purpose of private study, research, criticism, or review, as permitted under the Copyright Act, persons and organisations wanting to reproduce material may obtain written permission from the publisher. Enquiries should be addressed to publications@aspa.org.au.

ISSN 0157-6321

Copyediting by textedit.com.au

Layout and typesetting by artmachine.com.au

Printing by Canprint

AUSTRALIAN SOCIAL POLICY ASSOCIATION

The Australian Social Policy Association (ASPA) is a non-profit organisation and professional association of social policy researchers, educators, practitioners and policy-makers. ASPA promotes debate and increased understanding of social policy in Australia, and productive collaborations between those working and researching in social policy locally, across the Asia-Pacific region and internationally.

The Association's key objectives are to:

- support and foster research, practice and education in social policy in the university, non-government and government sectors,
- create a forum for the exchange of information and ideas about social policy in national and international contexts,
- facilitate and encourage higher degree research training in social policy,
- establish links with other Australian and international organisations that have an interest in social policy issues.

The Association provides its members with access to:

- publications,
- seminars,
- workshops and conferences,
- cross-sectoral networking opportunities,
- higher degree research forums and networks.

ASPA seeks to support the community of social policy researchers and policy makers in their efforts to understand and contribute to the promotion of human well-being.

Australian Social Policy Association,
Email: enquiries@aspa.org.au
Web: www.aspa.org.au